Só de entrar no site já dá para perceber que falta objetividade, eles não deixam claro no que é para prestar atenção porque vários elementos possuem praticamente o mesmo peso visual. Assim que o visitante acesse o site ele já deveria perceber “o que a empresa faz”, “por que ela é confiável” e “como solicitar um orçamento”.

A hierarquia atual é basicamente a logo como parte que mais chama a atenção logo depois as fotos das placas feitas pela empresa, um texto genérico e por fim como entrar em contato.

Melhorar a hierarquia visual exige criar uma ordem clara de atenção: Destacar a proposta principal da empresa, evidenciar a qualificação e a credibilidade e tornar o CTA de orçamento mais visível.
